Yale Stores To Close Thursday Afternoons

FOR HALF HOLIDAY STARTING JUNE 29th AND CONTINUING UNTIL AUGUST 31st

The business men of Yale following the custom established by neighboring towns have also decided to close one-half day of each week. Therefore, from June 29th to August 31st all the business places in Yale except the drug stores and garages will close at 12:30 for the remainder of the day. This necessitates a change in our "open nights," therefore after June 28th until further notice the business places of Yale will be open on Wednesday and Saturday nights only, except those places mentioned.

By Order of Committee

SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION

The St. Clair County 2nd District Sunday School Convention, held in the Church of Christ, Fargo, on June 2nd, was one of the very best S. S. conventions ever held in that district. The church did not begin to seat the crowd that gathered to listen to the interesting program that was perfectly rendered.

R. R. Moore, state president, was the main speaker of the day. In Mr. Moore's address he showed very clearly the importance of the Sunday school must play in this period of moral and social unrest.

Papers and addresses by Miss McIntyre, Mrs. Moore, Rev. Burdock, Miss Draper and Rex Strohbridge were greatly enjoyed while those who gave recitations and helped in the singing did themselves proud.

The convention voted to hold a joint picnic at Nye's grove, on July 4th. This promises to be one of the greatest events ever put on in this section. A fine program is being prepared with Matt Mullen as main speaker of the day. There will also be a good baseball game and everything will be done to give the children a real fourth of July.

OBITUARY

King C. Holden passed away very suddenly Tuesday evening while on his way home from Cedarwood.

In company with J. E. Staley he motored to Cedarwood to stake out the foundation for Mr. Staley's cottage. On their way back to Yale the car stalled on Baker's hill and those in the machine got out to help push. While in the act Mr. Holden dropped to the ground and breathed his last. The lifeless body was soon brought home.

Deceased was born March 10, 1861, at Strathroy, Ont., and when 5 years of age came with his parents and settled on a farm east and south of Yale. June 10, 1886, he was united in marriage to Miss Florence Mosher. Three children were born to them: Mrs. Pearl Brown, Yale; Lloyd Detroit; Lee Chicago.

Funeral services will be held from the Methodist Episcopal church Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. F. D. Mumby, officiating. Interment in Elmwood cemetery.

The widow, three children and four brothers Carl, Thomas, Neil, and Grant, besides many friends remain to mourn the demise of a kind and considerate husband, a loving father, and affectionate brother, a firm and steadfast friend.

The whole community sympathizes with the family in their sorrow.

Children's Day

Last Sunday was observed as Children's day in the churches of Yale. Flowers blooming plants were profusely used for decorations and the programs given by the children were largely attended. Everybody enjoys the Children's day and the efforts of the little ones in song and recitation.

Now is the time to subscribe for the Express.

The Jolly Farmer's Club

The Jolly Farmer's Club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Halsey on Thursday afternoon, June 22nd.

Officers will be elected for the ensuing year and members are requested to pay their annual dues at this time. Members and visitors are requested to come as early as possible as the program will begin at 1:30 sharp. The menu will be sandwiches, potato salad, cake and coffee.

The following is the program as planned:

Opening
Community Singing by Club

Prayer

Secretary's Report

Election of Officers

Song—Leona Lovelock

Paper—Kenneth Keyes

Talk by Mr. Kidman

Mr. Froeman of the M. A. C.

will be present and will also address the club.

Mr. Froeman is a chicken expert and the best authority on chickens in the state. He will talk on the care and management of chickens and will also give a demonstration on chicken houses, how to build them, etc. This number will be of special interest to all chicken raisers and it is hoped a large crowd will be present.

Junior Play

The Juniors had a full house on the occasion of staging their play Friday evening, June 2nd, and as our copy of the "write-up" was inadvertently omitted from last week's Express, we are going to make only a brief mention of it this week as it has now become ancient history and stale news is worse than none.

Our little city is always interested in all school work and the home talent plays are certainly well patronized. The Juniors had selected a clever play to work on, that of "Oh, Clarence" one of Booth Tarkington's best.

Some of the character takers were perhaps a little stage struck, it being their first appearance in a professional way and others required some prompting, but for the most part, all took their castings very well and the play went off very nicely.

The specialties between the acts were bright and entertaining and the Yale orchestra did fine work throughout the evening.

HORSE RACES AT YALE

Bills are now being distributed advertising some real fast horse races at Yale for July Fourth, and those in charge of the doings have received lots of encouragement from owners of fast ones from many towns in the Thumb.

The track at Piverside will be put in good fast shape, and lovers of the harness races will be treated to some real fast events. As an extra attraction, there will be a real fast base ball game, between the Yale City Team and the boys from Fargo.

This will be a full afternoon of good clean sport. Below we publish a list of the racing events: Green Race -----$50.00 B Class -----$125.00 Free-for All -----$150.00 There will be no entrance fee, and free hay and straw will be furnished to all entering horses. All races will be governed by American Association rules.

For any further particulars write or call on Robt. Thompson, secretary.

NOTICE

Persons who have left articles of furniture and other property in the Auditorium please call and remove same as we want to commence remodeling the building.

GAMBLERS PLAN TO "GET" FOES

Threaten Retaliation If Forced To Pay Fines

(From Times-Herald)
The so-called sporting circles of the city are somewhat agitated over the announcement of Prosecuting Attorney Henry Baird that the five gamblers, who were recently sentenced to serve 15 days in jail and pay a fine of $150 must come across with their fines or possibly serve another term in jail.

After serving of their sentences the gamblers did not pay into the court the $150 fine which was also assessed against them.

After waiting a reasonable length of time for the gamblers to pay their fines, Prosecuting Attorney Baird sent them notices to the effect that unless the fines were paid the necessary steps would be taken to enforce the payment.

Word was returned to Prosecuting Attorney Baird that if the payment of the fines was enforced, "that the gamblers would retaliate in some way," but the specific nature of the retaliation was not outlined.

An investigation was started, and it has been learned from good authority that the gamblers and their friends intend to take an active part in politics for the purpose of "getting" those who were instrumental in sending them to jail. One of the gamblers who has been active in spreading propaganda as to what the sporting element intends to do at the next election is credited with the statement to the effect that "we are going after every official who in any way had anything to do with sending us to jail."

Just at present Attorney Henry Baird and Judge Harvey Tappan are the particular targets of the gambling and sporting element.

There appears to be no secret about the activity in organizing the sporting element of the city to take an active part in the coming political campaigns. The five gamblers who were sentenced to jail for 15 days and fined $150 apiece are William Reams, Geo. Poppas, Jerry Faulkner, Edward Smith and Pete Williams. Smith, it is understood, intends to pay his fine without protest, and is not interested in the so-called political activities which are in the process of organization.

FORD NEARS OUTPUT OF 5,000 A DAY

Dealers Call For 194,750 Cars Trucks and Tractors For June

Ford dealers in the United States have asked for a total of 194,750 Ford Cars, Trucks and Tractors to meet their June requirements, says a statement issued by the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, Mich.

As a result, the estimated output for June has been boosted to 140,000, which is an increase of 10,000 over last month, and, of course, will set up a new high record, in spite of the fact that the May output showed a substantial increase over the previous high month.

Ford sales have been constantly increasing since the first of the year, the demand growing during the past two months faster than it has been possible to increase production.

Monday, May 16th brought forth a new record of cars built for one day, the figures reaching 4878 at the close of the day's work. This was an increase of 16 over May 15th, when the previous high mark was established.

On May 18th, the six millionth Ford motor was assembled. No. 5,000,000 came off the line May 28th, 1921.

Ford officials state that every attempt is being made to build a sufficient number of cars and trucks to fill the retail requirements of their 8,000 dealers.

Twenty-Eight Graduates Receive Their Diplomas

FRED DALE WOOD GIVES INTERESTING TALK TO THOSE JUST QUITTING SCHOOL LIFE

The last function of 1922 graduating days for Yale High school was held on Thursday evening last in the Auditorium.

The stage was tastefully decorated with flowers, and the fourteen young ladies and fourteen young men looked very womanly in white gowns and manly in gray suits as they faced the audience.

Superintendent A. T. Greenman, Fred Dale Wood, the speaker of the evening, Revs. Martin, pastor of the Presbyterian church and Stroup of the Methodist Protestant church, also occupied seats on the stage.

Speaking to the subject, "The Story of an Ideal," Mr. Wood quoted the following from St. Paul, and built his address around it: "This one thing I do. Forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize." He impressed on the members of the graduating class and the audience the beauty of definiteness in one's ideals, remarking rather quaintly, as an aside, "if you are determined to be a horse thief, be a good one, or be none." After elaborating the idea that nothing is gained by promiscuity and aimlessness of thought or action, he defined the word, ideal, as Webster defines it, "a standard of perfection," but said it meant much more than that.

"I believe," said Mr. Wood, "that all of us would have a better and clearer concept of our duties and obligations in life if we only had a deeper understanding of the words we use. A majority of us acquire our language by absorption rather than by investigation. That is one of the reasons we go wrong, many times in our application of the word, ideal. An ideal is not some high, intangible, almost unreachable thing to be striven for, it is something to work by, or with."

"It is an instrument of accomplishment, a tool, just as truly a tool as the plane of the carpenter, the trowel of the mason, the stick and rule of the printer are tools, and if we will get and hold that definition of an ideal we can better understand its application to the affairs of our every-day lives."

"All people are governed by their ideals. If those ideals are high and exalted, so will the one having such ideals live a high and exalted life. If one's ideals are on a lower plane, one must, perforce, live one's life on that level, until the standard of ideals is raised."

"It is true, but very true, that no one ever gets out of life anything that is not first put into life. If you put in sweetness, kindness, unselfishness, helpfulness, proper energy and righteous ambition, all those things will be returned unto you a million fold. On the other hand, if you put in grouches, distemper, meanness of soul, pessimism and fault finding, you may be sure those things, too, will be returned to you many times increased. You cannot gossip about your neighbor without expecting your neighbor to gossip about you. You cannot destroy character in others and expect to escape the attack on your character others will make."

"Whether your lives become successes or failures will depend on you, the individual, and not on your neighbor or friend. As your ideals are, so will your life be. I congratulate the people of Yale on these bright young men and women of the graduating class. I believe the nation is safe in the hands of these and such as these and that these young folks here will, in their own time, take up their burdens of faith and carry them onward and forward, to the glory heights, better, maybe, than you and I, their elders, have ever done. I have faith in the youth of America, and I bid you have faith in the members of this graduating class, who will soon go forth into the hurly-burly of the great world, carrying aloft the shining banners of patriotism and good citizenship, because of the ideals with which they are imbued."

This splendid address was one of the best that a Yale audience has ever listened to and was received with the closest attention and heartiest interest.

Following came the awarding of diplomas by Supt. Greenman to his twenty-eight graduates.

The music of the evening was furnished by the High school orchestra.

HYMENEAL.

No Man Can Either Live Piously, or Too Righteously Without a Wife.—Richard.

CASE-HOLT

Married in Port Huron, June 8th, 1922, at 1:00 o'clock p. m. Miss Eva Case and Mr. George Holt, Jr., by Rev. J. S. Wood.

They were attended by the groom's brother and sister, Miss Lovina and Mr. Jayson Holt.

The happy couple left immediately for a short wedding trip by auto for Strathroy and other points in Canada. Upon their return they will reside on the groom's farm east of Yale.

Wednesday evening of this week a reception was given them at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Clara Tenneslaw north of Yale. Some seventy-five or eighty guests paid their respects and offered congratulations to the newly married couple.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Mary Ripplinger and Mr. Leslie J. Menzies took place in Detroit on Wednesday, June 7th, 1922. The couple left immediately for a wedding trip and will be at home after August 1st, in Detroit, at 1715 Glendale ave.

Leslie is the son of Editor and Mrs. J. A. Menzies of this city, a former Yale boy and a graduate from high school. For many years he held the position of publicity man and general sales manager of the Menzies Shoe Co. of Detroit. He is now connected with the Menzies Real Homes Co.

Yale friends and boyhood chums are offering congratulations on the happy event.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Sacred Heart church, Yale, on Thursday morning, June 8, 1922, when Rev. Fr. Melling united Miss Mary Jane Trainor and Mr. John Welch in the holy bonds of matrimony. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Trainor, of Melvin, and the groom is a prosperous young farmer of Maple Valley township. Immediately after the wedding dinner which was held at the home of John Fitzpatrick in Peck, the young couple went to their home five miles west of Melvin. Heartly congratulations are being offered Mr. and Mrs. Welch by their many friends.

Miss Vera Bell, grand daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steenburg, of Yale, was united in marriage to Mr. William Bailey, of Detroit, Saturday, May 27, 1922. Vera is well known in Yale and loved by all who knew her. Friends are offering congratulations.
